Wednesday, March 24, 2010
Hilton Garden Inn • Columbia, MO
8:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. • Luncheon provided
About this conference: Prevention, identification and healing of wounds could be your full time occupation, but you are expected to accomplish wound care along with all the other facets of your caseload. This day-long event provides a variety of clinical workshops addressing some of the most critical issues in wound prevention and healing. We are fortunate to have as instructors the talented and highly skilled staff of Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center. We hope your clinical staff will find just what they need in this selection of workshops.

Vendors and products: Many of the workshops in this conference will provide you with the opportunity to see wound care products and processes within the classroom. Additionally, product representatives will be available for you to visit with in depth during the morning break and after lunch.

Descriptions of Concurrent Sessions

Pressure Ulcers: Prevention & Treatment – Addresses common risk factors for pressure ulcer development, strategies to prevent pressure ulcer development, how to assess pressure ulcers including staging and documentation, common treatments and educating the patient and family members about prevention and care. Kim Mitchell, RN, Wound Clinic Nurse Manager, Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center, Columbia, MO

Fundamentals of Chronic Wound Care – This session will address how one classifies a wound as chronic, discusses the features of the optimum wound healing environment, the role of nutrition in the wound healing process, the role of the comprehensive assessment in developing a plan of care, discusses ulcer stages and contributing factors and provides some best practice guidance. Kimberly Jamison, MD, FACP, FAPWCA, Boone Hospital, Columbia, MO.

Active Treatment Modalities – Provides guidelines for when it is appropriate to consider active treatment modalities, explains the commonly used types of active modalities and addresses some active treatment modalities that require more research. Kimberly Jamison, MD, FACP, FAPWCA, Boone Hospital, Columbia, MO.

Cost-Effective Wound Healing Strategies – In this cost-sensitive environment, wound healing looms as one of the costliest endeavors for home health nursing. This session will demonstrate which wound strategies help to reduce costs, examines outcomes that are linked to cost-effective wound care, identifies the importance of accurate wound healing etiologies and introduces you to some advanced wound healing therapies that are in use today. Audrey Moyer-Harris, BSN, RN, CWCN, Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center, Columbia, MO.

Dressing Selection – Experience in moist wound healing includes the concepts of wound management, healing philosophy, appropriate dressing choices, the functions of the major dressing types and monitoring the healing progress. This session will give you a good foundation for building your wound treatment skills. Examples of wound dressings and their uses will be provided. Kim Mitchell, RN, Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center, Columbia, MO.

Diabetic Foot Ulcers – The causes of diabetic foot ulcers will be reviewed, the use of the Wagner Scale for grading foot ulcers will be emphasized, and treatment objectives will be discussed with the identification of what tests are recommended to accomplish treatment objectives. Terry Sanders, DPM, Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center, Columbia, MO.

The training day will be enhanced by the participation and contributions of the following companies:
- Hands-on pressure relieving devices and dressings will be provided by Hill-Rom and Medline during Pressure Ulcers: Prevention & Treatment.
- Hands-on compression wraps and nutrition will be provided by Smith and Nephew and Abbott when you attend the Fundamentals of Chronic Wound Care session.
- Dressings in the Active Treatment Modalities session will be provided by Systagenix, Dermagraft and Apligraf.
- In the Cost Effective Wound Healing session the machines and dressings are provided by Boone Hospital Wound Healing Center, Theragauze and CCS Medical.
- KCI and Direct Medical will make dressings available in the Wound Dressings session.
- Hands-on orthotics and total contact casting is provided by Mid-Mo Orthotics and Dermasciences in the Diabetic Foot Ulcer session.
