

The Opioid Crisis: Family & Caregiver Risk Assessment Factors and How to Respond to Them

Webinar & Audio Recording • Wednesday, June 27, 2018 • 10:30 am—12:00 pm CST

The disease of addiction can impact those who are caring for their loved ones in pain. No one wants to think their parents, family members, caregivers, or friends would take medications from those who are suffering in pain especially at the end of life. Unfortunately in the world we live in today, this is happening. This session will share stories of struggles while providing pain management, palliative and end of life care.

The presentation will share a pediatric institution's quality improvement project on Opioid Risk Screen for Abuse in a pediatric chronic pain clinic and a homebased palliative care and hospice setting. The experts will discuss:

- Opioid misuse issue statistics in the US
- Risk factors for opioid misuse in caregivers and how this can impact pain management patients in pain and at the end of life
- Implementation of a quality improvement project conducted in a pediatric chronic pain and homebased palliative care and hospice setting.

Presenters: Sharon Wrona, DNP, RN-BC, PNP, PMHS, AP-PMN is the Administrative Director for the Comprehensive Pain and Palliative Care Services at Nationwide Children's Hospital. She has been a pediatric nurse for 30 years and has spent the last 16 years working in pediatric pain management as a nurse practitioner. Sharon completed her DNP at Ohio State University as well as her Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner. With Dr. Wrona's background in working with children and adolescents she has developed a passion for safe pain management from both a prescriber's and nurse's perspective.

Lisa Humphrey, MD, is the Hospice Medical Director and Director of Palliative Care at Nationwide Children's Hospital. She received her bachelor's degree from Columbia University, NYC, and her medical degree from Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland OH. She completed her pediatric residency and a fellowship in pediatric hospice and palliative medicine at The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.
