

Understanding Therapy Potential for the Medically Compromised Patient

Audio Conference • Thursday, October 25, 2018 • 12:00 pm—1:30 pm CST

Encore Date Recorded Playback: Thursday, November 1, 2018

Home health has always managed patients with multiple medical diagnoses, but with our health care system trying to find new ways to save money (Bundling and ACOs), home health is now being challenged to see more patients with a higher acuity level in the home. At the same time, home health agencies are held accountable for achieving quality outcomes via initiatives such as Value Based Purchasing and 5 Star. Furthermore, with the likes of PDGM and Pre-Claim on the horizon we are being asked to do more with less. The challenge is that these medically acute patients expose the agency to a higher risk for re-hospitalization and the potential of PEPs. How do home health providers improve care to these medically compromised patients while also minimizing the risks associated with their care? How do they do it and remain operationally viable? By bolstering therapy staff to practice to the height of their license.

Presenter: Chad Roberts, PT started his career with ARMG in 2006. He currently serves as the Corporate Vice President of Home Care Operations. Prior to joining ARMG, Mr. Roberts worked extensively in private and hospital-based outpatient and acute care clinics before entering private practice for himself. Mr. Roberts worked extensively in private and hospital-based outpatient and acute care clinics before entering private practice for himself. Mr. Roberts is responsible for helping ARMG clients achieve excellence in home care operations to include clinical programs, outcomes and value based care programs, operational strategies, and compliance. Mr. Roberts lectures around the country on therapy-related OASIS items and provides education to clinical staff, to include defensible documentation and compliance with Medicare initiatives. Chad is a certified OASIS clinician and continues to provide hands-on patient care whenever he has the opportunity.
