Intermediate ICD-10-CM With 2019 Updates

Speaker: Jennifer Gibson, RN, HCS-D, COS-C

Tuesday & Wednesday, November 13 & 14, 2018

(Nursing CEU's - 11, BMSC CEU's - 11 pending)

The increasing focus on value-based care requires a precise diagnosis with best practice interventions to achieve desired outcomes. The Missouri Alliance for Home Care (MAHC) is offering this intermediate ICD-10 coding workshop in partnership with Axxess to assist in reducing your risk of adverse patient outcomes and substantial revenue loss for organizations and professionals that are unprepared.

Are your coders accurately coding the case mix points that less skilled coders may miss? Now is the time to ensure your coders are coding correctly! Join other home health professionals in this interactive and educational intermediate coding seminar. This Intermediate Coding Seminar is for those who have coding experience in either ICD-9 or ICD-10 code sets, and desire a refresher course on guidelines and conventions. Attendees will review updated coding "rules" and learn how to apply them to commonly coded disease processes such as diabetes, cardiopulmonary diseases, wounds, neoplasms, GI/GU disorders, musculoskeletal disorders, strokes, fractures, as well as aftercare and status codes.

Attendees will be required to bring an ICD-10-CM coding manual to class, as interactive coding scenarios will be an integral part of the learning experience. Code books will not be provided or sold at the event, and should be purchased in advance from Decision Health. (Note: The 2018 or 2019 version will be adequate for this class.)

You may purchase an ICD-10-CM manual through Decision Health at a discount if your agency is a member of MAHC. See details on the MAHC website: www.homecaremissouri.org

Learning Objectives:

- The attendee will learn to apply current ICD-10-CM Coding conventions and guidelines to common home health scenarios.
- Attendee will show proficiency in using the ICD-10-CM code set to select and sequence codes as instructed by official guidelines.
- The attendee will learn changes to take place October 1, 2018 to the ICD-10-CM code set.

About our instructor:

Jennifer is a Registered Nurse with over 23 years of home health industry experience. She is a certified OASIS and Coding Specialist. She regularly trains on home health regulation including OASIS C2 and ICD-10 coding. She has held several leadership roles in administration of home health agencies including Director of Nursing, Clinical Supervisor, and Administrator. Jennifer consults widely for home health agencies nationwide and is a sought-after contributor to industry blogs and publications. Jennifer is committed to the success of the home care industry and currently serves on several committees for the Texas Association for Home Care and Hospice. Jennifer has the heart of a teacher, and her passion is to support others in the home care industry.
